

THE JOURNAL OF CROSS-CULTURAL PSYCHOLOGY

International and Interdisciplinary

The Journal of Cross-Cultural Psychology is published four times per year by the Center for Cross-Cultural Research. Original research concentrating on psychological phenomena (motivation, learning, attitudes, etc.) as they are conditioned by various cultures or sub-cultures as well as other social and behavioral research which focus on the individual as a member of the group rather than the macroscopic group are preferred.

Subscriptions are invited and manuscripts from psychology, anthropology, sociology, criminology, psychiatry, psycholinguistics, and the behavioral aspects of political science are welcomed.

Subscription rates are:

Individuals                   $ 7.00

Institutions                 $ 10.00

Special introductory subscription rates are available until March 1, 1970.
